Introduction

The Fort Valley State University (FVSU) chapter of the Collegiate 100 Black Men of Macon-Middle Georgia Area, Inc. plays an important role on the college campus and the greater area of Fort Valley, Georgia. The effective playing of its role requires that the chapter be a responsible, productive, and cooperative segment of the 100 Black Men of Macon-Middle Georgia Area, Inc., and the entire Fort Valley State University community.

Membership in the Collegiate 100 is drawn primarily from African American male college students through chapters on university campuses across America. Members of the Collegiate will assist the local (Sponsoring) chapter with the development of the social, emotional, educational, and physical needs of youth who have few or no positive role models in the communities in which they live. The Collegiate 100 program is not intended to create a separate functioning group that operates independently from the local chapter of 100 Black Men of America. The right to use intellectual properties must be approved by the local chapter with the National consent.

It, therefore, is not fraternal in nature and does not include the process of pledging or hazing to gain affiliation. Rather, its intent is to make available volunteers to carry out the 100 Black Men of America's mission and to support the activities of the sponsoring chapter.

It is expected that those chosen as members of The Collegiate 100 will gain a greater appreciation for the mission and goals of the 100 Black Men of America, Inc. Through this union, an alliance will be formed with chapter members who will prepare The Collegiate 100 to become active members of 100 Black Men of America upon graduation.

The 100 Black Men of America's Signature

13.1 FOUR FOR THE FUTURE

Program Areas Include:

Mentoring Education

Economic Development Health & Wellness

MENTORING provides a means for the “100” to guide youth in life experiences. Through the Mentoring the 100 Way training program, our volunteer members become certified mentors, advocates and role models for their youth. Through chapter operated one-on-one and group mentoring efforts, our members forge relationships that positively impact our greatest resource, our youth. In an effort to further assist our youth, the “100” has instituted an advanced mentoring certification, Mentoring the 100 Way II that exposes our volunteer-members to behavior modification techniques.

EDUCATION is the key to opportunity. Over 100 students receive financial assistance through our national and chapter-based scholarship programs. Additionally, the “100” operates the Wimberley Initiative. Named in memory of our past Vice-Chairman of Programs, Bill Wimberley, the program seeks to stop the inappropriate placement of minority students in Special Education programs. Our new tutorial program entitled S.T.E.P. (Student Tutorial Enrichment Program) was adopted to enhance our education initiative by ensuring that the mentees of the 100 Black Men of America, Inc. are receiving stellar educational support. Other current initiatives include SAT / ACT preparatory classes and technology courses that assist the community as we strive to address the digital divide.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT fuels our livelihoods. Our Economic Development programs and workshops (usually presented during our annual National Conferences) provide information that enhances and encourages business and employment opportunities. The Dollars and $ense program was created to educate high school students in economic development through a stock market education component. The “100” also provides credit education, investment club strategies and real estate planning seminars to members.

HEALTH & WELLNESS is a vital component of a thriving community. The “100” teams up with other non-profit organizations as well as law enforcement agencies to provide anti-violence workshops and promote preventative health strategies. Our Young Men Behaving Responsibly program has aided in sex and health education for various “100” chapters. The program teaches young men how to take charge of their lives and their health. The Program's teaching areas include sexual accountability, abstinence and contraception, HIV / AIDS and sexually transmitted infections, and healthy relationships with your partner. Health screenings and African-American prevalent disease education are available for adults.

Collegiate 100 Black Men Anthem (By Vincent Ivan Phipps)

*We were formed for the purpose that's noble and true,
With conviction and pride to give back to our youth.*

*For too long our Black children have been deprived of their needs,
We are "Collegiate 100," with us they'll succeed.*

*Teaching them morals of what's wrong and what's right,
Out from the darkness we'll lead them to light.*

*Our children are troubled and in need of care,
When support is needed, we'll always be there.*

*Our mission's eternal, serving our youth 'til the end,
By mentoring, tutoring or just being a friend.*

*When faced with defeat will help them to win—
With "Collegiate 100" all troubles amend—
Always there through thick and thin—
Setting examples without having to pretend—
Across the nation our service extends—
Along with the help of THE 100 Black Men.*

*Providing insight and wisdom, throughout our endeavors,
With the 100 Black Men as our "Father Figures."*

*But when a youthful approach is in need, one refreshing and clever,
We help bridge the gap at the big brother level.*

*When they are denied, we'll give them their chance,
Our mission is simple; to nurture and enhance.*

*For a purpose so vital we cannot fail,
We must provide opportunities for young Black males.*
